NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Base Ball.

Radcliffe Wins from Bates Second Team in an Interesting Game.

The Radcliffes crossed bats with the Bates second team, Saturday, at the Fair Grounds and came out a winner by the score of 12 to 2. The game was more interesting than the uneven score indicates. For three innings neither team could get a man across the plate. In Bates' half of the fourth, French, who played last year for the Radcliffes, scored on his base on balls, an out and a hit by W. Q. Brown. In the home team's half of the same inning Hayes was safe on an error by W. V. Brown, stole second and scored on Mulvey's single. In the sixth the locals scored five runs on an error, a hit by pitcher, a base on balls and two hits, one of them a two-bagger by Cole, and three more in the seventh and three more in the eighth. The visitors scored one more in the seventh on a hit by Wadleigh and a stolen base and a two-bagger by W. V. Brown.

For five innings it was as pretty a game as is often seen, and then the home team got at Whittier and drove him to the bench; French, who relieved him in the box, fared little better. Not an error is credited to the Radcliffes, the only semblance of a misplay being a misjudged fly by Shaw. Mulvey, the new man at short, showed up strong, both in the field and at the bat. The Edward Little High School team is given out as the attraction next Saturday, and as they have defeated the Bates second team, the game should be interesting.

Veranda Club Ball.

It is hardly necessary to say that the ball at the Opera House was a most successful affair when it is known that it was gotten up by the popular Veranda club. There were about seventy-five couples on the floor and a good number of interested "lookers-on" in the gallery. Given the orchestra of Lewiston of five men furnished good music. Spring water was served throughout the evening and at intermission ice cream and cake. Letter to Stephen B. Cummings.

Norway, Maine.

Dear Sir: There are two sorts of furniture. You know both; for I have both 'em both. One sort looks better than it is, and the other is better than it looks. There isn't any other sort.

The same, two sorts of paint, no more; and we make 'em both—we make tons of stuff that isn't worth its freight. It belongs to the business—have to. Belongs to your business—you have to.

But this is aside. We put into cans, with our name on, the very best paint there is in the world. Devote lead and zinc. It takes fewer gallons than mixed paint, and it wears twice as long as lead-and-oil.

Mr. C. O. Brown, Columbia, S. C., painted his house with Devote lead-and-zinc. The painter, on seeing the quality sent to the house, said there wasn't enough. There were ten gallons left, when the job was done. Yours truly, F. P. Stone sells our paint.

Baccalaureate Sermon, N. H. S.

The sermon before the graduating class, Norway High school at the Universalist church, Sunday, was well attended. Nearly every seat in the house was filled. The class marched in two by two led by the marshal and were seated in seats reserved for them in the center front of the house.

The sermon by the pastor, Rev. S. G. Davis, was one of deep thought and held the attention of the hearers to the last word. The text was from Matt. 10:29, He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it. The thought emphasized was that the members of the class had lost a life of ease and found a life of hard work and study and had gained the honors about to be bestowed on them. They were exhorted to continually keep losing the things which were not for their advancement and to find the things which would help them onward and upward to a better and more useful life.

Good music was furnished for the occasion by the chorus, also a solo by Mrs. B. F. Bradbury, and trio by Marguerite Finney, Lona Noble and William Noble.

Things were lively at the Opera house for a little while Saturday night, the occasion being the sale of tickets for the graduation exercises to be held this Thursday evening. Norway High school took a great interest in their schools and every one was anxious to get the best seats.

For the Good of Humanity,

We are sorry to note that the ones who cut the trees and cleared up beside the road above Pleasant street, Norway, failed to trim up and leave a row of the trees for shade trees on each side of the road. Any one, who thinks this foolishness, we wish before they destroy the trees would visit the road this side of the Elhanan Tubbs' farm house. They will then see what we mean. Those two rows of trees add fifty per cent. to that place for a desirable home. If the trees are left too close together after they get larger some of them can be cut out. The trees want to be trimmed up so that the passer by can see under them, and the tops left for shade. To be sure the trees on upper Pleasant street road were cedars, but they were nice, large, fine cedars and a row of them could have been trimmed up, the right distance from the road, to have looked fine, and this road might have been made, with its hills and wild scenery, one of the prettiest drives around here. A beautiful spot like that would add more in a money value to the land adjoining than could be got for selling the trees, four times over, besides being a blessing to everyone on the road. "A cup of cold water given to a thirsty man, at the right time and place is more value than a cup of gold. A shade tree is a blessing to man and beast and perhaps may be the most lasting blessing a life with multitudes of good deeds may be able to do on the earth when it shall have passed on.

If a shade tree by the roadside, cut down, could be replaced by will it would not be so bad, but the one or two who cut down all those trees, Pleasant street and left only unsightly stumps and brush must remember that during their lifetime those trees cannot be replaced by others.

at Ida Kimball's over Sunday. Miss Kimball is teaching in Greenwood.

for Steven and Young, cut his foot very badly, so as to have ten stitches taken in the wound.

Mrs. James A. Stevens is quite poorly.
Rev. T. S. Perry went to his new home in Harrison, Saturday.

turned from their wedding tour in Port-lard Goodwin, visited their mother, Mrs.

Jamball, in teaching in Greenwood.

tie Dunn, of Norway, visited their daughter and sister, Mrs. Charles Kingman, and also Mrs. Herbert Whitcomb, Wednesday.

sister of Mrs. Ellen Rand Millett, and whose former home was in this village, has just suffered a critical surgical operation in a hospital. She is now considered out of danger but is still very ill.

Work on the roads is progressing under the supervision of David Lebrooke, who believes in the old-fashioned way of building roads. John F. Rice, our veteran hotel-keeper and stage driver over 30 years old, worked all day with the young men. On one of the hot days of last week he leveled with a hoe 61 two-horse loads of gravel. What do you think of that, you loafers on the street corners? His energy and ambition are worthy of great praise.

Whirlwind Moved Things Onward.
Last Monday about noon a whirlwind started in front of V. H. Littlefield's frightening J. Bartlett's horse. Mr.
Bartlett turned round in the road and went the other way and the whirlwind took a heavy wagon right up free from the ground and carried it quite a distance and then another one came and did the same thing. The third one came and set it right side up. The fourth one came and carried it into the air and line and hung them up in the oaks. If it had not been for Mr. Bartlett's presence of mind he would have been killed.
